

Flag of FFA

I am the flag of the Future Farmers of America. I represent the fulfillment of your impossible dream. I represent almost one-half million Future Farmers all over this great nation. I stand for the young men and women of America who are willing to meet the challenges of agriculture in the future. The young people who are developing themselves for more responsible citizenship and better leadership. I am the blue and gold of the FFA. My blue background represents the solid foundation that you have in this great organization. My sprinklings of gold stand for the golden opportunities that are offered to you and the responsibility that goes with each. The opportunity and responsibility that helps you to develop yourself. As long as young men and women strive for agricultural leadership, cooperation, and citizenship, I shall continue to represent the greatest farm youth organization in the world. But always, I will be what you make me, nothing more. Fellow Future Farmers, you are the makers of the flags which represent you. May you always glory in their making.
